Our Mission

"LendingDox was built to solve one problem -- how to originate loans quickly and accurately in a system that is easy to afford, understand, configure, and maintain.

We came to the conclusion that the only solution is a 100% web-based product. We've built desktop-based versions in the past and struggled with keeping rates, regulations, and policy changes up-to-date across remote machines. Moving to the web certainly has its own challenges. We've worked hard to recreate desktop functionality while delivering a web-based solution."

Why LendingDox?
An Origination System & Point-of-Sale in One

One Place for You, Your Borrowers, and Your Realtors
For one low price, you get both an origination system and a point-of-sale. No more "importing and exporting"! When the borrower begins an application, you can see the loan instantly in LendingDox.

One Easy-To-Use System
Once you learn LendingDox, learning how to use the Point-of-Sale is a snap. No more fumbling between different systems.

One Low Monthly Price
Pay just $30 per user per month for both products. There are no contracts, no installation fees, and no per-loan fees.
